

2024 surveillance of osteoporosis: assessing the risk of fragility fracture (NICE guideline CG146)

Surveillance report

Published: 24 October 2024

www.nice.org.uk

We have found no new evidence to support pregnancy and postpartum as a risk factor for fractures, as pregnancy associated osteoporosis is an ultra-rare condition.

Surveillance decision

We will not update the guideline for pregnancy and postpartum as a risk factor for fractures.