Hayley Wickens	Specialist Committee Member	Non-financial professional and personal interests	I work on a small part of the PROGRESS project, Pharmacogenetics Roll Out – Gauging Response to Service. The PROGRESS project looks to establish the feasibility of providing an NHS-wide diagnostic service to identify genetic changes associated with commonly prescribed drugs. Clinical Lead: Prof William Newman, Manchester University NHS Foundation Trust, and Dr John McDermott, University of Manchester. Both Prof Newman and Dr McDermott were leads on the PALOH trial. I had no involvement with the PALOH trial. The PROGRESS Project is led by the North West Genomic Medicine Service Alliance (GMSA), funded by NHSEI. Some funding has been paid from NWGMSA to my employer, Central and South GMSA, in order to back-fill mine and colleagues' time working on the project, although this does not benefit me personally.		Dec 2022		Declare and participate, Chair, Dec 2022
