

Heavy Menstrual Bleeding (update)
Review questions covered in this guideline

| No. | Review question |
|------------|---|
| 1. | What is the diagnostic accuracy of ultrasound and hysteroscopy for investigation of women presenting with heavy menstrual bleeding? |
| 2. | What is the most clinically effective imaging strategy for diagnosing adenomyosis in women with heavy menstrual bleeding? |
| 3. | What is the most clinically and cost-effective treatment (pharmacological/surgical) for heavy menstrual bleeding in women with: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li data-bbox="331 573 791 607">• suspected or confirmed fibroids<li data-bbox="331 618 868 651">• suspected or confirmed adenomyosis<li data-bbox="331 663 746 696">• no identifiable pathology? |