

Review of NICE Technology Appraisal Guidance No 49: ultrasonic locating devices for the placement of central venous lines

Review Decision

NICE was recently asked by a manufacturer to reconsider the decision to place this guidance on the static list, i.e. the guidance remains current without requiring an update.

Our Guidance Executive has considered the information provided and decided that it does not suggest that the current recommendations are invalid and they have concluded that there is no reason to change their previous decision that the guidance should be transferred to the static list.

We will consider a review when further information becomes available.

12 January 2009